Describe what you see. Is it representational, abstract, or non-objective? Does it convey a sense of movement or stillness?

What materials were used to make the piece? Do you think the artist was trying to communicate something by using these specific materials?

Would you consider the piece traditional or new? Is it formal or improvisational?

What feelings are evoked within you as you view this piece?

What do you think the artist intended to communicate to their audience through this piece?

What’s working within the piece that you’d like to see more of? If you could change something about this piece, what would it be?

Why do you think this piece was installed in its current location? Do you feel it is complementary to the surrounding landscape and buildings, or does it juxtapose its surroundings? If you could move this piece, where would you install it?
